

Science Week!

When: Monday 13th March

Children may come to school dressed in a science related outfit on Monday 13th March 2023.

For example: Mad scientists, famous scientists, astronauts, the solar system, planets, robots!

Throughout the week the children will all be learning Science topics. British Science week is a ten-day celebration of science, technology, engineering and mathematics. This year's theme is connections!

At the end of the week, the children will share their learning with each other and celebrate science throughout the whole school.

Enjoy!
